Healthcare: Advancements in Decision Making

From R&D to patient delivery, GLG's network of healthcare experts and key opinion leaders can help you evaluate opportunities, assess challenges, and navigate the ever-changing intricacies of healthcare investment and research.

How We Help

At GLG, we connect you to people with first-hand healthcare experience, giving you access to powerful insights and the clarity you need to act with confidence.

The World's Insight Network Knows Healthcare

GLG's network includes approximately 1 million experts worldwide — over 18% of whom are healthcare industry specialists. We also add an average of 200 new experts to the network every day.

Our global team works with you to identify and recruit the professionals who can add relevant insights to your research, whether you're in need of a physician or a healthcare expert.

GLG's network of academic and community physicians represents a variety of specialties, including:

- Oncology
- Immunology
- Family medicine
- Emergency medicine

Our healthcare experts also include the following executives and administrators:

- Laboratory and medical directors
- Medical division heads
- Hospital administrators
- Former regulatory and reimbursement executives
- Allied health professionals

Our expertise includes:

Pharmaceuticals and Biotechnology

Tap into the largest network of healthcare key opinion leaders – including researchers, physicians, and executives – who can help you stay informed on drug discovery, clinical trials, and treatment paradigms.

Health Services and Policy Research

Gain insights into the various healthcare services sectors, ranging from technology and the pharma supply chain to regulatory policy and outsourced services, by connecting with specialists such as payors, hospital executives, and former policymakers.

Medical Devices and Diagnostics

Take advantage of the most extensive network of seasoned medical professionals and technology executives to stay on top of the evolution of data, systems, and platforms within medical devices and diagnostics.
